DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 30-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Acher et al. (6759985).
3. Regarding Claims 30 -36, Acher et al. show in Fig. 2, for example, an antenna substrate 24 comprising an indefinite layer beneath the radiating antenna, e.g., aperture antenna 20, and a radiator 26 embedded therein, where the substrate is a host dielectric medium with an artificial or magnetic medium embedded therein and comprising conductors (best seen in Figures 10 and 12, for example, in a periodic spatial arrangement, all arranged as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-29 are allowed.
5. The following patents are cited as of interest: de Maagt et al. (6469682) show a periodic dielectric for an antenna structure. Pikulski et al. (5600342) show a periodic “indefinite” material.
